dated 16th May, 1977

Delete the first sentence and replace by:

"Since the early 1960s the long term demographic growth rate is characterised by a declining trend. The birth rate, which dropped substantially in the sixties, picked up somewhat in the seventies but will fall again after 1980."

Delete the two last sentences and replace by:

"In the long run, this slow-down in the demographic rate of growth should lead to a more substantial ageing of the population, particularly that of Russian origin."

After "from agriculture" add footnote (1) as follows:

"(1) However, migration of young rural workers to the towns in the past few years in both Romania and Bulgaria has resulted in acute labour shortages, particularly of skilled labour, in the agricultural sector and the governments of both countries have made several attempts to slow down the exodus by improving rural living conditions."

Footnote "(1)" to be renumbered "(2)".
