The Expert will:

- Monitor, analyse and provide advice on the terrorism landscape and related security developments in the ASEAN countries, including the impact on EU interests. This will include preventing and countering violent extremism, (de)radicalisation, countering terrorist financing and money laundering, and countering transnational and organised crime linked to terrorist activities, including drug trafficking and trafficking of human beings. The Expert will work in close cooperation with other EU (including Member States) actors present in the country, as well as with other CT/Security Experts in the region. S/he will pay due attention to human rights and the rule of law, therein, as central elements of the EU approach to countering terrorism;
- Establish, maintain, promote EU relations, comprehensive and holistic strategies, dialogues and identify concrete cooperation with local and regional authorities (esp. ASEAN) and counterparts on counter terrorism and security issues; it should be based on a collaborative and inclusive approach, peer reviews, exchanges of best practices. It should also enable the EU to learn from successful national and/or regional strategies on CT and related security issues.
- Provide regular and timely analysis and reporting to the Security and Defence Policy Directorate (CT Division) via the Delegation, and to all other relevant services at EEAS Headquarters, on the above topics and related aspects including through monthly reports and flash reports, early warnings, , info flashes, “think pieces”, as well as in response to specific requests;
- Promote and raise awareness of local and regional authorities on EU policies, strategies, initiatives and actions concerning counter terrorism and security;

- Ensure close coordination with Member States' embassies and amongst Member States' counter terrorism advisers, security advisers and police liaison officers, including by convening and/or participating in relevant coordination meetings on counter terrorism and security matters pertaining to Indonesia and ASEAN countries;
- Develop and maintain a network composed of relevant local and regional authorities and actors on counter terrorism and security from the region, as well as regional organisations (esp. the ASEAN), EU Member States, UN agencies, NGOs and local and international civil society, and bilateral (esp. likeminded key States for the region) and regional partners;
- Contribute to the preparation of and participate in Dialogues on counter terrorism and security matters, and their follow-up, contribute to regular briefings and the preparation of HQ and other visits, and provide general analytical input in close collaboration with the EU Delegations (particularly with the Political, press and information sections);
- Cooperate closely with Indonesia, EU Delegations in the region, EEAS and Commission services (including FPI, INTPA and HOME) in the identification, formulation and implementation of EU policies, programmes, projects and activities in Indonesia and the region concerning counter terrorism and security issues in collaboration with the EU Delegations in the ASEAN region, and the Security and Defence Policy Directorate (CT Division);
- Ensure communication and visibility of EU policies and actions, including counter terrorism and security aspects in the communication strategy of the EU Delegation.
